

"MONEY IS THE LAST THING
you should have to worry about when you are dealing with breast cancer."

—Keneene, diagnosed at age 39

“The cancer and its treatment were so debilitating that I had to quit one of my two jobs. It put me in such financial jeopardy that I feared my daughter and I would become homeless.”

According to the Centers for Disease Control, breast cancer has the highest overall treatment cost of any cancer in the U.S.

Living Beyond Breast Cancer provides grants to people in treatment to help pay the costs of rent, utilities, or other basic needs so women can focus on their health, not their bills.
