

Survivorship Series

A training program for healthcare providers

Support young people moving beyond breast cancer treatment

Apply now for 2026 Survivorship Series

Living Beyond Breast Cancer is now accepting applications for our 2026 Survivorship Series — a national training program designed for oncology nurse navigators, oncology nurses, and other healthcare providers such as patient navigators, community health workers, and social workers.

This program prepares you to implement a four-part educational series at your cancer center on essential survivorship topics for young people diagnosed under age 45:

- Sex and intimacy
- Early menopause
- Long-term side effects
- Self-care after breast cancer

Application deadline: November 14, 2025
